COUNTY BRED CLASS RULES AND REGULATIONS

1. Market animals that are bred and born in Preston County are eligible for competition in the County Bred Champion show(s). All county-bred animals must be identified as such at the entry weigh-in and tagging for the species. At entry weigh-in and tagging, the exhibitor must present the official PCLA County Bred Form filled out and signed by the breeder to the PCLA official for use as record in county-bred class. Animal's may not be designated as county bred animals after the entry weigh-in and tagging date. County Bred form MUST be completed prior to weigh-in and tagging by the breeder and exhibitor. Incomplete forms will result in ineligibility for the County Bred Competition.
2. Animals eligible for participation in the County Bred Competition will be identified during the regular market show for the species. The top two placing county-bred animals in each class will be identified during the market show for possible participation in the county-bred competition which will be held following the naming of the overall Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion of the species.
3. A county-bred champion and reserve will be identified in each weight division. When a division champion in the market show is also a county-bred animal, that entry will automatically be the county bred division champion and will represent that entire division in the Grand Champion County Bred Champion Competition. If the division champion is not a county bred animal, but the division reserve champion is a county bred animal, the entry will automatically be the county bred champion in that weight division. The county bred weight division will then be selected from among the highest placing animal from each class within the division. The County Bred Division Champion will be selected from among the three County Bred Division Champions. The Reserve County Bred Champion of the division from which the Grand Champion County Bred animal is selected will then compete for the Reserve Grand Champion County Bred Animal.
4. Animals that do not meet all requirements will not be eligible for the county-bred class.
5. Sale order will be Grand Champion, Reserve Grand Champion, County Bred Grand and Reserve Champion, Champion and Reserve Champion Division winners, and County Bred Division Champions. The remaining animals will be placed in order at the discretion of the Superintendent or Market Class Chairman of each species.
